Collaboration: The Key to Successful Vessel Delivery

There's no doubt about it: collaboration between owners, shipyards and designers leads to successful project outcomes. As the design agent, EBDG plays a vital role in vessel delivery. In this capacity, we have a thorough understanding of the many and varied complexities of designing a vessel. We know that it takes a team of dedicated professionals to move a project forward.

EBDG excels at bringing together effective project teams. We appreciate how all three parties - the design team, the owner and the ship yard - bring slightly different, yet valuable, perspectives to a project. Through the input of all parties involved, a highly functional design is born; one that best meets the owner's specifications and price points.

At EBDG, we help owners and operators minimize risks and optimize operations. Our teams in Seattle, Ketchikan and New Orleans have experience working on a wide range of designs including crewboats, platform supply, well stimulation, ferries and barges, and accommodation vessels. We pride ourselves delivering well-engineered vessels that suit our clients' needs.
